(Major or Area of Study)

To qualify, applicants must be full-time undergraduate students (at least 12 credit hours per semester) enrolled in architecture; architectural, structural or civil engineering; construction management; or other related areas of study. Up to 25 students are eligible to receive this funding twice. Depending upon availability, up to three students from the same university may be selected.

The sponsorship includes RCI convention registration, up to four nights lodging at the convention hotel, a stipend for meals, cost of travel up to $400 (receipts required), and a one-year RCI student membership.

As a sponsorship recipient, you will be required to:

- Attend a minimum of ten hours of educational presentations and devote three hours to the trade show floor.
- Interact informally with staff, committees and the Board of Directors during the convention.
- Participate in public affairs/advertising efforts by writing an article for RCI Items or RCI Interface sharing your experience of the convention and the knowledge gained.

1. Please attach a letter of recommendation from a professor or mentor.

2. Include an essay explaining your interest in your field of study and what you hope to gain by attending the RCI International Convention and Trade Show (limit 300 words).

Please check the box confirming that you are a full-time undergraduate student:

I confirm the information provided by me is accurate. I have read and agree to comply with the above requirements as a sponsorship recipient. I understand that RCI will treat information as confidential.
